

Member Descriptions and Committee Roles

Dr. Eugene Giovannini

As Chancellor of the Tarrant County College District, Dr. Giovannini has decision-making authority on all college and Board of Trustees level decisions.

Dr. Peter Jordan

As President of Tarrant County College, South Campus, Dr. Jordan has decision-making authority over all academic and related programming, policy and procedures, and coordinates the interface between instruction and student enrollment services at Tarrant County College, South Campus.

Dr. Dana Grove

As Vice President of Academic Affairs, Dr. Grove has decision-making authority for the ECHS and dual credit programs, policy, and procedure coordination, assists the Director of Academic Affairs, and in the coordination of student enrollment services for all ECHS student support activities.

Wendy Jasper

As Director of Academic Affairs, Wendy Jasper has decision-making authority for dual credit and ECHS program requests, coordination of dual credit and ECHS course scheduling with division and departments, and directs front-line coordination of all student enrollment support for both ECHS and dual credit program.

Andrew Hill

As lead counselor at Tarrant County College, South Campus for ECHS services, Andrew Hill collaborates with ECHS in assessing and monitoring student progress, student achievement, and provides insight and guidance to the ECHS program regarding student support services.

Dr. Curtis Amos

As Superintendent, Dr. Amos has decision-making authority on curriculum and procedures for Everman ISD. He shares the district perspective on the partnership with the committee in regards to curriculum and finances. Part of his role is to address barriers and bring all parties to consensus.

Catherine Sewell

As the Chief of Secondary Education for Everman ISD, Ms. Sewell provides curricular support and program guidance for ECHS, and provides district perspective and communication regarding ECHS services and program partnerships.

Dr. Sean Milligan

As principal of Everman Collegiate High School, Dr. Milligan's role is to keep committee members informed regarding enrollment, instructional change, curriculum and student support. Dr. Milligan's role is to liaise with the committee to problem solve aspects of the program that impact the education, training and experience that provides ECHS students with access to their high school graduation and associate degree. As principal, he provides data to the committee including tracking college readiness, promoting curriculum changes as needed and student success.

In addition, his role is to provide suggestions to the committee that foster collaboration between ECHS and Tarrant County College leadership and faculty. He brings forward community needs as well as campus/district needs for discussion. An essential part of his role is to be a visionary who brings forward ideas on building capacity and community support to grow and sustain the campus.

Lora Macaulay

The counselor's role on the committee is to share concerns regarding the academic success of students in their high school and college classes. The counselor provides information regarding scheduling, credits earned and overall achievement.